* Household membership for two or more people residing at the same address.

Contributions to Sudan & Nubia

Items for possible inclusion in future issues of Sudan & Nubia should be sent to the Honorary Secretary. Articles submitted by 1st June will be considered for inclusion in the issue to be published towards the end of that year. Prior to submission, please contact the Honorary Secretary for details relating to the formatting of your article. Please note that Sudan & Nubia is a peer-reviewed publication.

Sudan & Nubia

Back-issues of the journal are available to members at a cost of £10 per copy, plus postage and packing. All are available, apart from numbers 1, 2 and 4. Articles from back-issues, except for the two most recent, are available as free downloads from the Society's website – please follow the link to the Publications page at <http://sudarchrs2.dns-systems.net/resources/publications/bulletin-sudan-nubia/> where you will also find a Table of Contents of numbers 1-23. Copyright of all articles published in Sudan & Nubia and the illustrations contained within them, unless otherwise stated, rests with the authors. Where photographs are not acknowledged in the captions, they were taken by the authors of the article within which they appear.

The opinions expressed in the articles published in Sudan & Nubia are those of the author/s concerned and do not reflect those of the Society, its officers and committee members.

The Society's Archive

The Society is actively seeking to increase the holdings of the Archive and any members who may have relevant material, which they would like to donate, or allow to be copied and housed in the Archive, are urged to contact the Honorary Secretary at SARS@britishmuseum.org. The Archive is available for consultation by prior appointment.

The Society's William Y. Adams Library

The Society is extremely grateful to its late Honorary President, Prof. William Y. Adams, for the very generous donation of his extensive personal library of books and offprints relating to the archaeology of Sudan and Nubia and related subjects. This donation elevates the Society's library to amongst the best libraries of its kind in the UK. The pre-existing library, consisting of books from Sir Laurence Kirwan, along with donations from a number of individuals including Harry James, onetime Keeper of the Department of Egyptian Antiquities at the British Museum, are being integrated into the new library as appropriate and the catalogue will be available shortly online. The Library sits alongside the Society's archive which together form an extremely valuable research facility principally for the Middle Nile Valley but increasingly for areas further afield to the east, west and south.

Grants from the Society

Unfortunately small grants from the Society will not be available in 2021.

Support for the Society

The Society is heavily involved in fieldwork and in the publication of recent, and not so recent, excavations and surveys. These activities are only made possible by the generous support of a number of organisations and individuals. Particular thanks for support over the last year go to the Institute for Bioarchaeology, the British Museum and the Society's own individual Patrons. As always we receive unstinting cooperation from our colleagues in the National Corporation for Antiquities and Museums. The Society is enormously grateful to all who have given it their time and resources.

Gifts to Charity during your lifetime or in your Will

The Sudan Archaeological Research Society ('SARS') was established as a charity to advance public education, particularly through research, in the archaeology, the ancient and medieval history and traditional cultures of Sudan and Nubia, and related studies. We welcome any financial support which you may be prepared to give in order to enable SARS to promote the charitable objects for which it was established. There are a number of ways in which you can support SARS during your lifetime and in your Will:

Donating through Gift Aid

If you donate through Gift Aid it means that SARS as a charity can claim an extra 25p for every £1 you give. It will not cost you any extra, unless you pay less income tax and/or Capital Gains Tax than the Gift Aid claimed on all your donations in that tax year, in which case it is your responsibility to pay any difference.

You can make a donation of any amount, however small, as a one-off payment or as a regular quarterly or annual payment. You can cancel the payment(s) at any time by notifying SARS and your Bank/Building Society. You will need to make a Gift Aid declaration for SARS to be able to claim. The relevant form can be obtained from the Honorary Secretary.

Donating land, property or shares

You do not have to pay tax on land, property or shares which you donate to charity.

You will pay less Income Tax by deducting the value of your donation to SARS from your total taxable income for the tax year in which you make the gift or sale to charity.

You do not have to pay Capital Gains Tax ('CGT') on property, land or shares which you give to SARS. However, you may have to pay CGT if you sell them for more than they cost you, but less than the market value. Your gain is based on the amount that the charity actually pays you, rather than the value of the asset in question.

You will, therefore, obtain tax relief on both Income Tax and CGT, although the amount of the relief will depend on your particular circumstances, and is not a matter on which we can advise you.

You will need to keep legal documents showing the sale or transfer to SARS; and any documents asking you to sell land or shares on its behalf.

Making provision for SARS in your Will

You can donate to SARS:

- a fixed amount of money;
- or a particular item of property;
- or the residue or a percentage of the residue of your estate after deduction of your expenses and other pecuniary legacies have been satisfied.

Your donation will either be taken off the value of your estate before Inheritance Tax is calculated, or reduce your Inheritance Tax rate if more than 10% of your estate is left to charity.

Unrestricted gifts

Many people choose to leave an unrestricted or general gift to charity. This is the most helpful gift, because it allows us to use your gift wherever the need is greatest for SARS. You can leave an unrestricted gift, which can be either pecuniary or residuary, using the following form of words:

'I give the sum of £..... (or specify the percentage of the estate) to the Sudan Archaeological Research Society (Registered Charity Number 1005966), SARS, for its general purposes and I declare that the receipt by the Honorary Treasurer or other proper Officer of SARS for the time being shall be a full and sufficient discharge for the said legacy.'

Restricted gifts

If you would like to leave a restricted gift, please contact the Honorary Secretary to discuss your options with a view to targeting the particular charitable object(s) of SARS which you wish to benefit.

To leave a restricted gift, the following form of words should be used:

'I give the sum of £..... (or specify the percentage of the estate) to the Sudan Archaeological Research Society (Registered Charity Number 1005966), SARS, for its general purpose, and I express the wish, but without creating any binding trust, that this legacy be used for the purpose of promoting the following charitable objects (specify objects e.g. research, excavations etc.) and I declare that the receipt by the Honorary Treasurer or other proper Officer of SARS for the time being shall be a full and sufficient discharge for the said legacy.'

Other benefits which you can confer on SARS in your Will

You can also benefit SARS by making the Society a beneficiary of a life insurance policy payable on your death, or by making SARS a reversionary legatee of property or other assets which you stand to inherit, when the life interest of the beneficiary has terminated.

Your Will

If you are making a Will or updating your existing Will, you should take legal advice on the appropriate form of wording to use, in order to ensure that the gift to SARS is legal and effective as a charitable gift.

General

Records of any charitable donations you make must be kept safe. If you are not a UK taxpayer please contact the Society's office for information on how your bequest can be tax efficient in the UK.

The Archaeological Survey of Sudanese Nubia, 1963-69. The Pharaonic Sites.

Edited by David N. Edwards and Anthony J. Mills, 2020

468 pages; 812 figures, 2 tables (16 plates in colour).
ISBN 9781789696493.

This text brings to publication the work carried out by the Archaeological Survey of Sudanese Nubia, detailing the Nubian Rescue Campaign survey and excavation work between the Dal and Second Cataracts between 1963 and 1969. This volume focuses on the pharaonic sites of this important region, now largely lost to flooding.

Retail Price £75. Available to members for £60+P&P.

Travelling the Korosko Road. Archaeological Exploration in Sudan's Eastern Desert.

Edited by W. Vivian Davies and Derek A. Welsby, 2020.

252 pages; 493 plates, 74 figures (colour throughout).
ISBN 9781789698039.

This volume publishes the archaeological exploration carried out during the last 30 years in the Sudanese Eastern Desert. It is divided into two parts; the first detailing the work by the Centro Ricerche sul Deserto Orientale (CeRDO) along the Korosko road between 1989-2006; and the second outlining a short season of documentation by the Sudan Archaeological Research Society in 2013.

Retail Price £60. Available to members for £50+P&P.
